

Day schools in the final stretch

Rashi students celebrate with young friends

Rashi Middle School students have met weekly over the school year with kindergarteners at the Early Childhood Education Center in Dedham through an elective sponsored by the Jewish Coalition for Literacy. They celebrated the friendships they've made with a pizza and popsicle lunch. The literacy program is run by the Jewish Community Relations Council. Working with kindergarteners in the pictures below are Rashi students (from left) Jordyn Turin of Newton; Grace Scott-Hiser of West Roxbury; and Carly Eiduson of Sudbury.

